Will Know in a Week About Present Water and Sewer Picture

Council Given Reason To Feel Hopeful

Exactly how far the Town can go in the installation of water and sewer is expected to be known by next week, it was felt at a special meeting of the Town Council held on Tuesday. The meeting was attended by the Mayor, all councillors, and by T. S. Hughes, who reported on the success of his work in securing supplies of soil pipe for sewer.

Councillors heard a report that the town had been visited over the past week by a Mr. Wilson, representing one of the larger investment firms of the Dominion, who was checking on the advisability of his firm investing some $60,000 in the town's development. The balance of the amount necessary can be secured locally, it was reported. While Mr. Wilson's report to his firm was not made known, the feeling is that he was rather impressed with the situation.

Mr. Hughes reported on his trip to look into the pipe, and suggested that a full two months in delivery might be saved if the town were to secure a priority by reason of sanitation necessities. This avenue is being explored further.

Tenders for the hauling of water pipe were opened at the meeting, and following examination and discussion, were awarded to Palardy Transport. Two tenders were submitted. The transport firm will be advised when to start hauling.

Peterson-Plouff Rites Marked in Calgary

A quiet wedding took place in Hillhurst United Church in Calgary on October 11 at 3:00 p.m. when Marie Louise Plouffe of Calgary and Marvin O. Peterson of Fairplay were united in marriage. Rev. Marsh officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bjorkman, sister and brother-in-law of the bride were their only attendants.

The bride was daintily attired in a powder blue dressmaker suit with brown accessories. She wore a corsage of American beauty roses and her only ornament was a tiny gold locket, a gift from the groom's mother.

After a honeymoon in the mountains, they will reside on the groom's farm in the Fairplay district.

Langdon W.I. Plans Bazaar and Supper

by G. E. W.

The October meeting of the W.I. was held on Wednesday afternoon when seventeen members were present. The Constituency convenor's letter was read, also a letter acknowledging a food parcel from Overseas. The Sept. Overseas parcel was also reported, and is packed and in the mail.

Further plans for the "Snack Supper and Bazaar" were made, and more about this will appear in next week's paper. The date is Saturday evening, Oct. 23rd.

The Institute will be hostesses to the Girls Club, at a party on Wednesday evening, Oct. 29th.

One new member joined at the meeting. Roll Call, "New gadgets for the home" was well answered. A half hour over the teacups brought another W.I. meeting to a close when a tasty lunch was served by the hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Whitney spent a few days of last week in Calgary. On Friday they were guests at the Winters-Rowe wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Coldwell were wedding guests on Wednesday evening at the Nelson-Gamie wedding, held in Central United Church.

Perfect Autumn sunshine made the Thanksgiving holiday very enjoyable, some Langdonites leaving town to spend the long week-end visiting friends, while others spent their holiday entertaining at home.

Mariann Watson is getting along nicely after her recent tonsil operation.

Mrs. Chester Stevens will be home from hospital the beginning of the week, having been a patient

School Fair Run One Day Only

While the number of exhibits at the School Fair this year was not as large as in previous years, the quality was generally better, in the opinion of one of the judges.

A very large number thronged the Hall, Friday afternoon and enjoyed the tea ably served by the girls of the High School.

Several new exhibits from the "Shop Class" merited much favorable comment.

Bairree, Carseland, Nightingale and Strathmore played in the Baseball tournament, Carseland winning in the end.

Ernie Stoodley Takes Fall from Tractor

A fall from a tractor which he was operating on Tuesday resulted in three broken ribs and smaller injuries for Mr. Ernie Stoodley of Ardenode when he fell under the wheel of a tiler. His fall came as a result of a seat bolt breaking, allowing the seat to swing, and throwing Mr. Stoodley from the machine into the path of the tiler. The seat did not fall clear of the tractor, but hung by stub of the bolt, and tractor and tiler moved on into a hedge.

Mr. Stoodley was found by his wife, who determined something was wrong about ten o'clock, and who set off to search for him. Earlier, Mrs. Stoodley had been worried, and had looked rather briefly for her husband, but since he had said he was going to work the entire field, she did not attach too much importance to his lateness.

Mr. Stoodley was taken to hospital by ambulance, and X-ray examination later showed no indication of internal injuries.

Bill Tew Becomes New Town Man

Mr. Bill Tew has been appointed to succeed Mr. Jack Bennett as the town's Handy-Man and he with his family will move into the Town Hall at the end of the month.

for a few days.

We are glad to report that Mrs. C. V. Scott is feeling no ill effects of her recent accident on Saturday. A few bruises is all she reports as having after her car turned over east of Canmore. Mr. Wenger is more seriously hurt, with a broken wrist and a gash on the head. However, both were badly shaken up and feel they are lucky to be alive.

Legion Forced to Raise All Hall Rental Prices

High Costs Make Move Long time Overdue

One of the shortest Legion meetings remembered was held on Tuesday when business and all reports were wound up by a quarter to nine. Hall rents have been raised, it was reported, when the executive found that rentals were falling far short of maintenance costs. Rentals during the 1947 season amounted to $465.50, it was shown from the financial statement, while expenditure on only three items, manager, lights and coal had amounted to $895. There were in addition to these other items which should be charged to rentals.

Silver Tray Presented to Reinholdts To Mark Silver Wedding Anniversary

Communities Honour Old-Time Residents

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 6, friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Reinholdt, gathered with them at Sunny Rance School, when they observed the 25th Anniversary of their marriage. The crowd at the school gave evidence as to their high place in the community.

The school was beautifully decorated with white crepe-paper streamers and silver bells. A table, set with fine china, and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, completed the festive scene.

A delightful program was enjoyed by all, during the course of which several close neighbors and friends spoke of the 25 years that had passed with Mr. and Mrs. Reinholdt in their midst. Mr. Vanghøj of Calgary was master of ceremonies, and there were no dull moments during his able presentation of the entertainment.

After a delicious lunch, Mr. Vanghøj presented the guests of honor with a sterling silver coffee service. Mr. and Mrs. Reinholdt, and their four children, Aage, Aksel, Ellen and Paul, each responded in their own way, and thanked everyone for having been so honored. Among those from other points who were present were: Mr. and Mrs. A. Johansen of Carseland, Mr. and Mrs. A. Gustavsen, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sanden, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Christensen, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sparks, Mr. and Mrs. Jens Vanghøj all of Calgary, and Mr. and Mrs. Light from British Columbia.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Strom and Mrs. J. M. Wheatley were guests at the wedding of Marilyn Dahl at Drum-heller on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Madsen were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. F. Moen.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Phillips spent Sunday at Drumheller visiting "Ham" friends.

We are glad to learn Mrs. N. J. Hansen was able to leave the Hospital on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Smith and family visited friends at Carmangay over the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Estebrook and family are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Andy Hansen.

Miss Kathleen Leishman of Glenwood spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Leishman.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Foster of Banff spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. H. Chamney.

Fairplay Ladies Meet At E. Jackson Home For Birthday Party

Several ladies from the district spent an enjoyable afternoon at the home of Mrs. Emory Jackson of Cheadle when she entertained in honor of Mrs. K. L. Albertson's birthday. A few games were played, and following a very interesting social chat, delicious refreshments were served.

Miss Ruth Lowe has been spending a few weeks at home with her parents Mr. and Mrs. E. Lowe.

Mavis and Bill Anderson motorer to Red Deer last week where they are spending a short vacation with friends.

Mrs. K. L. and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Albertson were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dumbleton on Wednesday evening—the occasion being Mrs. Dumbleton's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Fraser and family and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fraser and family of Turner Valley spent the long week-end with their parents.

Mrs. S. Dain visited with Mrs. Page of Langdon for several days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Habberfield had as their guests the former's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wraith of Calgary.

FIRE HAZARDS

Last week was Fire Prevention Week and a great deal of good material was used to observe it. But it won't hurt a bit if once more we draw attention to the ever present danger at this time of year.

Following a long, hot summer, and one of the longest dry spells in any fall, grass hedges, fences and most of our houses are tinder dry and ripe for any chance spark to start a real blaze. When gardens are being cleaned up, and leaves are being burned, it is well for the sake of the neighbors, if not for your own protection, to cast a glance at the wind.

More than one indignant report has centred around the burning of grass on the last two Sunday mornings, when there was a fairly stiff wind both times. The indignation bears on recognition of the havoc which would result should a grass fire of this nature ever get away in a high wind.

What with stoves and furnaces starting up, too, and the possibility of ashes being fanned into flame by these winds, it behoves householders to make sure the ashes are dead before they are dumped. The Town Policeman reports scores of times when he has found small blazes in back alleys all set to liquidate fences and barns.

The best way to fight fires is not to let them start.

WANTED—BIGGER SIGNS

Under this heading the Claresholm newspaper recently commented on the system of signs for detours, of which they had quite a few while the highway was being repaired. The signs at the edge of town they reported, were fine, warning people that the road was under repair, and pointing out just where the detour started. From there on, however, apparently, it was anybody's guess, and one American traveller wound up knocking on a farmhouse door near the old 44 ranch, eleven miles west of the town, asking if he were still on the main highway to Calgary.

Whether it's detours, highways, or towns, Alberta's roads are very poorly marked. There are only a few signs marking the number of the highway, and very frequently none to say how far one town is from another. For that matter, a large number of towns aren't even announced from the highway.

Using the American highway system, at least every five miles there are signs bearing mileage to the nearest small town and to larger centres along the way, and also announcing the highway number.

Contrast this with Alberta's No. 2 highway, running from the border to Edmonton, where for sixty-six miles the traveller knows he is on the right road only because there is no other, where no mileages to anywhere are announced, and where not one of the smaller towns has an identifying sign on the highway.

Claresholm is right. We should have bigger—and more—signs.

WE DON'T ALL HAVE FREEDOM

We don't want to labor the point, but we were struck early this week when reading a dispatch from Brussels, concerning one Robert Poulet, newspaper editor and convicted Nazi collaborator. Monsieur Poulet was sentenced to die for his editorial policy on a Belgian paper throughout the war, but his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment when it was shown he was acting on the advice of King Leopold.

It may seem remarkable to us that in a country such as Belgium, which we are accustomed to thinking of as "free" a man should nonetheless receive the death penalty for stating his opinions freely. We have no doubt that many of our readers disagree with this column from time to time, and (tongue in cheek) be stirred to feel we should be shot—but all the same, we doubt if they would support an attempt to repress it.

Just as surely as Monsieur Poulet is restrained from his editorial expression, the common man is restrained from his right to speak his mind freely. Few of us have experienced fighting against repression of opinion, and are not too aware of other conditions. It is summed up in the words "Your right to know is the key to all your liberties."

THE SCHOOL FAIR

Apropos the School Fair, and in the line of fairs generally, the Financial Post comments that fall fairs play an important role in the life of rural Canada, particularly eastern Canada, by encouraging agricultural progress and also by fostering a community spirit. This is practically the unanimous verdict of Canadians answering a questionnaire on the subject. Improvements suggested, included higher standards and wider categories for exhibits; more businesslike administration; encouragement of educational and other constructive aspects. As one informed observer wrote, "It is possible to attract crowds and create interest with out turning a fair into a circus."

The Standard office. When this is levelled and surfaced it is planned to use it as a display area for the Massey Harris machinery to help eliminate the crowding of it on Main Street.

Miss Mabel and Miss Gladys Kish of Coronation Alta. have joined the staff of the Strathmore Cafe. Mrs. Kish was a friend for some years of Mrs. Jack Vermunt when she lived at Coronation.

While Mr. Allastair McGregor was visiting in Strathmore over last week he was the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Woodliffe.

Mrs. Matt May was taken to hospital late this week, for examination. She has an internal ailment and is seeking to find if treatment will remedy it.

In Others' Words

We've Had Enough

There seems to be a great deal of lethargy among the people of Alberta and, in fact, Western Canada, in opposing the proposed additional increase in railway freight rates. True, the western provincial government, are putting up strong opposition, but there is little fire among the people.

The prairie provinces are exceedingly unfortunate in their location when it comes to transportation. The lack of navigable rivers and lakes leaves the region in the position of a natural monopoly area for the railways. The situation is different in Ontario and Quebec, where the Great Lakes and a number of large rivers provide competition for the railways.

A short time ago the railways were granted a 21 percent increase. This was absorbed by the 12 percent increase in pay granted to railway employees. Now the roads want another large increase. The West must bear the great burden of any such increases. We pay the freight both ways.

The real danger in the allowing of further freight increases lies in the permanency of such concession. No one ever hears of freight rates coming down. If the people of the West readily submit to an increase in the burden of freight costs they may expect to carry the load for generations to come. Already we have done too much for Eastern Canada. We cannot and will not continue to accept the "short end of the stick".

Eastern Canada has grown fat and prosperous at the expense of the West. The more they benefit the more they want. We are getting fed up of the continuous exploitation of our great fertile area. —Brooks Bulletin

Alberta's Future

(BY JOHN FISHER, ON CBC)

One day in Toronto I met a professor at the University of Toronto. He had just written a book about Canada, and in it he predicted that when Canada had fifty million people, one-half of them would live in the Province of Alberta. This man, Professor Taylor, is a world famous geographer.

Alberta is fabulously rich. Its seven cities are heated by cheap gas — nearly every town has gas. When the Albertans get started talking about resources, they tell you that underneath their land is enough coal to supply Canada's needs for 5,000 years — more coal reserves than Germany and Poland put together. And up north on the Athabasca, millions of tons of tar sands, so rich in oil that you can grab a handful of sand and squeeze oil out with your fingers—riches waiting for science to find some way to extract them economically.

Let the Albertan talk — he'll tell you that Edmonton, Canada's biggest northern city, now nearly 130,000 people, is only half way up the province. Beyond for hundreds of miles stretch the rich lands of the Peace, home of nearly all the world wheat kings.

To Provide Lab' For Cancer Work

The Alberta division of the Canadian Cancer Society has undertaken to provide complete cancer research laboratory facilities in Alberta. It was announced Sunday.

Discussions are now taking place with University of Alberta authorities with this object in view.

At the same time, it was announced by Fred Shaw, president of the Calgary District council of the Canadian Cancer Society that the council's campaign will start October 1.

The area covered in this canvass will extend from Banff to Bassano.

It's Not a Bad Place

It isn't often we stop to consider the many benefits which our way of life naturally. A recent news release from the Government of Alberta is most interesting, hereof because it pointed out the many "firsts" owned by this province.

To mention a few which were brought out in the circular letter: Irrigation that is now practised on a vaster scale in Alberta than in any other province has been a great aid in making the province a leading producer in sugar beets and canning. About half of the Canadian sugar beet crop is now grown in Alberta. Two Alberta canning factories together boast a larger output than any other Canadian cannery.

We have been leading a lot about oil lately. There are unknown quantities of the so-called "black gold" in Alberta, so much still undiscovered and unproduced, perhaps, that resources may exceed the most optimistic hopes of the day. Alberta contributed more than 30 percent of the Dominion's oil supply in the first six months of this year. New wells are being sunk at the time, and our production is bound to increase. An oil-hungry United States would be a good future customer. Alberta is so far ahead in coal reserves that it has been said that the province is virtually one vast coal bed. But we can export much of it to other provinces. Why? Because we are also rich in natural gas. The ready supply in a. encouragement for the development of new industries in Alberta.

As agriculturists, Albertans are prominent. Alberta farmers have won a number of world championships at international grain shows. In this department, of course, central Alberta farmers shine, and the present holder of the "Wheat King" title belongs to a farmer residing just south of Red Deer. As livestock breeders, Albertans are unsurpassed in the west.

We could go on—but sufficient has been said to show how fortunate we in this province are. We say this not boastfully—the thought is simply borne out by fact. As a parting shot, we might add, statistics prove Alberta has more hours of sunshine per year than any other province in Canada. Just count the blessings!

Read-Kuyten Rites

A very pretty wedding was solemnized September 29th in Central United Church, Calgary, when Rosemarie, youngest daughter of Mrs. Kuyten and the late Mr. J. Kuyten of Calgary became the bride of William Read, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Read of Calgary. Before an Altar banked with bouquets of autumn flowers and ferns the Reverend Gordon Lapp of Calgary performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her eldest brother, Mr. Frank Kuyten of Rockyford, looked charming in a floor length gown of white satin featuring a nylon off the shoulder effect edged with fine lace and lily point sleeves. Her train length veil was held in place by a seed pearl coronet and she carried a large bouquet of American beauty roses artistically interwoven.

Lions Present 100 p.c. Attendance Pins

Sixteen pins were presented at the Strathmore Lions Meeting last Thursday evening to members who had chalked up a perfect score for attendance during the year. The pins bear a small Lions crest, and are backed by a small plate with the year and the record, 100 percent, on it. They are presented to members who have attended each regular meeting of the club during the year, or who have visited at other clubs when unable to attend their own meetings.

Members awarded the pins included W. E. Springthorpe, C. Scott,
A. Scott, H. Woldum, W. Mercer, J.
A. Tench, G. E. Risdon, C. A. Mac-
Lean, J. Scheer, W. E. Thompson,
J. W. Giffen, C. Cotes, S. H. Crowther, C. Harvey, Geo. Palardy and
S. Coldwell.

The dinner was served to the meeting by W. E. Thompson. Next meeting will take the form of a ladies night, and Mr. Thompson will be assisted by four other members.

Discussion took place during the meeting over the possibilities of a community auction sale, and it was agreed to form a committee of K.
A. Baldwin, J. A. Tench and L. C.
Coulter. Tentative plans are to check into the possibilities of a sale to be held early in March.

The price of dinners was raised following considerable discussion to seventy-five cents, since it was shown the club was operating at a loss for the past few dinners.

The Scott Pot was won by George Risdon.

UNDER THE STREETLAMP

After thirty years away, Jimmy Gannon returned to his native village, and knocked on the door of his sister's house. "Hello, Mary," he said when his sister opened the door. "I'm your brother Jim."

"Well, what do you want?" she asked crossly.

Cop: "Don't you know that's a safety zone?"

Woman Driver: "Of course—that's why I drove in here."

Charlie Taylor was taken to church for the first time. At one stage the clergyman announced: "We shall now sing hymn number two hundred and twenty-two—"Ten thousand times ten thousand." Two hundred and twenty-two."

Charlie nudged his mother: "I say, mom," he whispered, "do we have to work this out?"

Charlie Bennett says he's finally solved the problem of keeping people from taking his pencils. He purchased a 4H which no one ever fails to put down after trying it. Unfortunately, he can't write with it, either.

Willard Schultz: "I'm thinking of getting married at Christmas. Are licenses expensive in this town?" Cpl. Mott: "Two and a half dollars down, and your entire income for the rest of your life."

The teacher at a London school noticed during the Scripture lesson that a small boy at the bottom of the class seemed to be finding the questions too difficult.

"Now, Jimmy," she said, "I'll give you an easy question: 'What do you know about the ark?'"

"Please, miss," answered Jimmy, after a moment's thought. "It's what the 'erald angel sing."

Mr. MacKenzie: "You're the most unpunctual person I've ever met. When's your birthday?"

Richard West: "April 2nd."

Mr. MacKenzie: "Ah, late again."

Bill Tew: Is that hair tonic any good?"

Bill McNeill: "Well, I spilled some of it on my comb last week, and now it's a brush."

Mrs. Newrich: "A dozen bottles of Madras curry powder."

Grocer: "You use a lot of it in your cooking, don't you?"

Mrs. Newrich: "In my cooking? I've been giving it to the man who grooms my saddle horse."

Berryvale W.I.

The regular meeting of the Berryvale W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. C. B. Daws on Oct. 7. A whist drive to be held at the Serviceberry School on Oct. 15 was arranged, with proceeds to go to the Blind Campaign. This is to offset a house to house canvass and any donation given that evening will be gratefully accepted. Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. O. S. Brook on Oct. 21. Roll Call—arrangeable meeting.

For Women Only

SHORT CUTS

Most of the girls are getting their long locks snipped off short and a lot of them are getting a bang out of that short cut. It's fashionable to have a fringe on top these days.

Last year, hair was long and skirts were short, and this year the girls wear their hair short and their skirts long. There doesn't seem to be any other way of striking a balance.

QUICK MIX-UPS:

Tea Biscuit mixes are on every shelf nowadays. Mix them wet for dumplings.

Mix them properly for hot biscuits. After cutting and to pretty them up try this business.

Roll small sugar lumps in a mixture of orange juice, lemon juice and grated rind. Push a sugar lump in the center of each biscuit.

Bake in a fairly hot oven—serve warm. There's a drop of acid-sweet liquid right in the centre of each biscuit.

Raw Fruit in the centre of the biscuits, too, is a real treat. Flour the fruit first. Drop a bit of batter in the bottom of each oiled muffin pan; add a half teaspoon of floured fruit; top with more batter. Bake in a moderate oven.

The resulting fruit muffins are most appetizing.

FALL CULTIVATION FOR "WIND-PROOFING"

Each year at this season it seems advisable to emphasize the necessity for "wind-proofing" soils preparatory for the fall, winter, and spring soil drifting period. In the chinook belt winter drifting is the greatest soil hazard, while in other areas bare soil starts to move as soon as the snow disappears. Usually too there is considerable drifting in the late fall. All of this can be prevented quite easily.

Every farm operator in Western Canada knows that if he has bare soil it is likely to drift unless it is rough. It is too late now to preserve a good trash cover or to get a cover crop, so if soil is in a dangerous condition the only remedy is to make it rough. This can be done either by mold board plowing or by listing.

Some farmers on medium textured soils, such as loam and silt loams, have found that plowing summerfallow in the fall protects them until the grain is high enough to make them safe in the spring. Even in a dry fall, such as this, summerfallow almost invariably are moist enough to plow. If plowing is done it must be deep enough to turn under the dust mulch that has accumulated, and so leave the top cloddy. Usually it is not safe to depend on fall plowing on light soil or on clays.

Listing is the only safe procedure on sandy or clay soils, and it is preferred to plowing on the medium textured soils by most farmers. Listing can be done easily and cheaply by equipping a duck-foot cultivator with lister shovels which can be purchased from the implement dealer. Only three to four shovels are required for a cultivator as listing furrows may be placed four feet apart. If a duck-foot cultivator is not available a one-way disc can be converted into a lister by removing all but every fourth disc. Listing should be at right angles to the prevailing wind.

The methods described have been used so many times with success that it is sheer carelessness to let fields drift. Every field should be wind proofed.

PORTABLE IRRIGATION

Lightness, resistance to corrosion and durability are among the reasons why aluminum is being used with increasing effectiveness by agriculturalists in their never-ending struggle with the ancient enemies—drought and dry weather.

Irrigation of one kind or another—such as rills, flooding or sprinkles—has long been used where necessary to provide the supplementary moisture required to mature crops or increase their yields. Each of these methods is effective within certain limits—but the introduction of aluminum equipment has been a big step forward in increasing the efficiency of artificial application of water to crops, since systems of this type can be quickly and easily moved by one person from one plot to another.

NO EROSION PROBLEM

Aluminum irrigation systems operate with complete satisfaction on rolling topography where surface irrigation is difficult, as well as on level land. They eliminate the hazards of flooding or erosion on light soil—and provide the specific advantages of being light enough to move with ease, strong enough to withstand the strain of repeated movement and assembling, and corrosion-resistant to eliminate the hazards of rusting. They can be obtained to meet the needs of one acre or one thousand.

Nightingale

by Mrs. F. H.

Friday last was a busy day around Nightingale.

Early in the morning the teachers and most of the school children took off for the School Fair in Strathmore. They returned late in the afternoon tired but happy with a long week-end to recover in.

The regular meeting of the W.I. in the afternoon was attended by 14 members and 1 visitor. Mrs. William Gtto who has been visiting in the States for many months past has been to the past two meetings and rejoined the group as a member. The roll call was "Something to be Thankful for" and most of the members were thankful that harvest was over or nearly so. The members decided that instead of a supper on the night of the bazaar they would have one on October 27 followed by a dance with Mrs. Whitaker's orchestra. On October 13 they are having a shower for Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Betcher. Mrs. Betcher is the former Elsie Larsen. Friday evening the A.W.I. Girls'

Club, Country Pals, put on another of their programs of music and songs followed by a dance. Their program was enjoyed by a good crowd and later a larger crowd danced to the good music supplied by Mrs. Whitaker's Orchestra. The girls and a large number of their friends wore formal gowns, and looked quite lovely.

HOLD THANKSGIVING SERVICE AT NIGHTINGALE

Sunday October 19 the Nightingale Sunday School asked the grown-ups to join them in a "Thanks giving service. Rev. Hamilton of Strathmore, who comes for the S.S. service twice a month, led the service assisted by Mrs. Fred Hilton at the organ. The children sang a number of hymns led by Mrs. Harley Harriman, their own S.S. organist. She also sang a solo with Mrs. Hilton as accompanist.

Mrs. Whitaker's Orchestra is getting to be a regular feature at Nightingale.

Ardenode News

by H. S.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Coles and family, also Mr. Arthur Coles have left to spend several days visiting in Maple Creek.

Mrs. D. Osborne received the sad news of the death of her father on Tuesday, in Victoria, B.C. Mrs. Osborne left by plane on Wednesday night to attend the funeral Friday.

Our sympathy is extended to her in her sadness.

We are very sorry to hear of Mr. E. M. Stoodley's being so badly hurt Tuesday, when he had the misfortune to fall from his tractor while working in the fields. He is suffering several broken ribs and other injuries. We sincerely hope that Mr. Stoodley will make a complete recovery, and be none the worse for experiencing such a dangerous fall.

Wedding

with white satin bows. Her only jewellery was a three strand pearl necklace, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. David George, an older sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and looked lovely in a floor length gown of coral pink net over taffeta with matching headress and gloves. She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. The groom's only sister, Miss Mary Read, as bridesmaid, looked very winsome in a floor length gown of pale blue nylon batiste with matching gloves and headress. She also carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Little Jeannette Kuyten, niece of the bride, looked sweet in a floor length gown of pale yellow net over taffeta. She carried a dainty little colonial bouquet of white baby mums and pink rosebuds.

Mr. Ronnie Read, younger brother of the groom, was the best man and Stanley Earl, cousin of the groom, along with Norman Kuyten, youngest brother of the bride, were the ushers.

Mrs. Phyllis Chapman-Clark was the organist and during the signing of the register, Miss Edna Tanner sang "Because".

Following the ceremony, some fifty guests assembled at the Harris Sky Room where a delicious wedding supper was served. The tables were prettily decorated with white and pink streamers and vases of white mums. A three tiered wedding cake flanked on either side by tall white lighted tapers and bouquets of pink and white flowers, centered the head table. Assisting the bride and groom in receiving were the bride's Mother who chose for the occasion a gown of soft grey crepe with black accessories and a corsage of red roses, and the groom's mother, who wore a pale blue crepe dress with black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Mr. McKay, uncle of the groom, who was master of ceremonies for the evening, proposed a humorous little toast to the bride party. Later Ronnie Read as groomsman, proposed a very delightful toast to the bride. During the supper hour several excellent piano selections were enjoyed by all, the pianist being Miss Jackie Andrews. Later the tables were cleared away and dancing followed. For her honeymoon trip to Vancouver and Victoria, the bride wore a very pretty gabardine suit in burgundy shade with light grey accessories and top coat of grey. Her corsage was of white rosebuds and yellow baby mums. Upon their return the young couple will reside in Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Thurston of Strathmore and Mr. and Mrs. Loftus of Drumheller were out-of-town guests at the wedding.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Friezel (nee Gwen Clark), formerly of Cluny, a daughter Patricia Gail on September 29 at St. Mary's Hospital, Trochu, Alta.

A visitor at the home of Mrs. Moore over the weekend, Mr. Carl Egan returned to Calgary on Monday, with his wife and small son Shayne. Mrs. Egan is a granddaughter of Mrs. Moore.

Saturday afternoon was the occasion of the fourth birthday of Judy Hamilton, and was celebrated by having a number of small friends in for an afternoon party. A great deal of enjoyment prevailed, and a hearty round of refreshments made the party complete for the small crowd.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taber of Calgary were weekend visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Chapman, returning on Monday. Also spending the weekend at the Chapman home were Mr. Blaine Chapman, of Red Deer, and Miss Mary Overand of Calgary.

Miss Jean McMurray and Miss Hope Christensen returned from Edmonton for the holiday weekend. They returned on Monday to continue University studies.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McMurray over the Thanksgiving weekend were Mr. and Mrs. George McMurray of Edmonton.

Mrs. Alice Polley and Beverly came down from Edmonton over the holiday weekend to spend a couple of days with Mr. and Mrs. Garrett.

Mr. Walter Boissevain was home from University over the holiday weekend, and Miss Joan Boissevain was home from Calgary.

The offices of the oil survey crew which have for the past few weeks been located in Strathmore, were moved over the weekend to Carbon. The duration of their stay there is not known, but it is possible they will be back again in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lambert with Bill and Pat spent Saturday in Strathmore, making hasty visits on many former friends.

Mrs. McGregor and Allastair spent the latter part of last week in Strathmore, leaving on Saturday night's train for their home in Vancouver.

Mrs. Hamilton entertained a number of wee tots Saturday afternoon on the occasion of Judy's fourth birthday. A table prettily decorated with pink and white streamers and pink and white bon-bon cups gave a festive air. Delicious refreshments and some merry games made the small children very happy.
